

CSU Enrollment Continues to Grow

*Represents the number of students served taking the equivalent of a 15-unit course load.
 Fall 2001 figures are based on Opening Term reports, official census files are not yet available.

Chart A. Opening Term Enrollment and Full-Time Equivalent Students,* from Fall 1992 to Fall 2001

Enrollment at the California State University rose for the seventh consecutive year. The headcount on opening day for fall 2001 was 388,734 students, or 20,265 more students than fall 2000. In the last seven years the CSU has grown by over 69,000 students.

This year's growth was widespread. Of the system's 22 campuses, 19 recorded enrollment increases. The largest gains were at San Diego with an increase of 2,562 students, at Northridge with an increase of 2,382 students, and at Long Beach with an increase of 2,341 students. Other campuses with large increases were Fullerton (+1,976), San Jose (+1,362), Sacramento (+1,209) and San Luis Obispo (+1,201).

The two lines in the graph above indicate the relationship between enrollment numbers and numbers of full-time equivalent students (FTES).

The number of FTES is derived by dividing total student credit units attempted by 15, the normative workload for students pursuing a degree in 4 years. The average CSU student now enrolls in 11.7 units, just under the minimum 12-unit workload for full-time students on financial aid. The current number of FTES, 302,847, is roughly three-fourths the size of the headcount.

The CSU anticipates that it will provide instruction in excess of its budgeted college year (CY) FTES target of 305,854. The 22 CSU campuses and special programs (i.e., International Programs, Summer Arts, and CalStateTEACH) estimate that they will serve 314,276 full-time equivalent students by the end of this school year – almost 23,722 FTES (8.2 percent) more than the 290,554 FTES served during CY 2000-01.
