Instructional Support Assistant II

Class Code 1578
Date Established 07-01-80
Occupation Index Reference P-1

DEFINITION:

Under general supervision, an Instructional Support Assistant II either performs support services for a variety of kinds of courses in an instructional program by providing materials, supplies, equipment and related logistical support to lecture, laboratory, research or other activities; or prepares materials, supplies and equipment using special methods and procedures related to the discipline to which assigned. The Instructional Support Assistant II has responsibility for providing support at the time and place appropriate to faculty and student needs. The scope of support provided is for a variety of kinds of courses with differing needs and frequently for the full discipline.

DISTINGUISHING CHARACTERISTICS:

Positions in this class are distinguished from the Instructional Support Assistant I by planning and scheduling support in order to serve a variety of courses with differing needs requiring diversity in the kinds of materials, supplies and equipment and, therefore, greater skill in serving this diversity. Positions in this class as opposed to the Instructional Assistant I require use of judgment related to the suitability or materials related to specific classes and skill in logistics related to meeting a variety of needs simultaneously. Materials preparation at this level requires learning methods and techniques related to the discipline and judgment in determining the appropriateness of the material produced while at the I level the preparation primarily involves following instructions or formulas and little judgment of the product result. Positions at the I level primarily dispense or arrange equipment while at the II level, assignments frequently involve knowledge of equipment operation, and the ability to perform enough simple repair to keep the equipment functioning or to identify malfunctions requiring technical repair.

Positions at the Instructional Support Assistant II level are distinguished from the Instructional Support Assistant III by providing comprehensive support for homogeneous learning facilities areas while at the ISA III, the support usually is more complex because support must be provided for several learning areas with differing facilities and needs or maintenance and operation of technical or highly complex equipment.

Examples of Typical Activities:

Plans the layout of support, develops work schedules to meet deadlines, prepares a variety of materials and equipment necessary for specific classes. Maintains records of materials issued and returned; prepares requisitions for purchase of equipment and supplies (this may include checking local sources for availability and price); unpacks and checks material and makes up stock received reports; maintains stock record cards of equipment and supplies and takes periodic inventory; maintains catalogs of equipment and supplies; sets up laboratory, class or rehearsal rooms for student use; maintains stockroom in neat and orderly manner; performs minor construction, repair and maintenance; preparation of materials using specialized methods and techniques requiring skills to learn the techniques and the application of judgment to evaluate the suitability of the materials produced for instructional needs. Operation or maintenance of equipment may be involved at this level.
