Presentation By

Gail Brooks
Vice Chancellor

Summary

This action item proposes:

- Addition of Article 6.8 to Title 5, entitled “Furloughs of Non-Represented Employees”
- Addition of Article 6.9 to Title 5, entitled “Reductions in Pay for Non-Represented Employees”
- Amendment of Title 5 Section 42920, entitled “Holidays”

Upon a finding by the Chancellor of a natural disaster, epidemic or other major debilitating event that significantly impacts the operations of the CSU, or a financial crisis, as defined, proposed Articles 6.8 and 6.9 provide authority to the Chancellor to implement furloughs and/or reductions in pay for non-represented, Management Personnel Plan, and Executive employees.

The proposed revision of Section 42920 provides authority to the Chancellor to determine whether the holidays identified in this section shall be paid or unpaid for non-represented, Management Personnel Plan and Executive employees.

The catalyst for each of these proposed Title 5 changes is to provide the Chancellor with the flexibility to respond to the immediate financial crisis facing the State. The proposed addition of Articles 6.8 and 6.9 also anticipate the possibility of furloughs and reductions in pay, respectively, in other situations, as described in the proposed articles.

Background

During this past year, the CSU has experienced an unprecedented budget reduction as a result of a state budget gap of over $24 billion. The current budget reductions to the CSU are estimated between $400 million and $700 million. Consequently, the CSU is exploring a range of options, including furloughs, reductions in pay, and unpaid holidays, in order to meet this enormous shortfall in funding. Depending upon the savings resulting from these options, it may be possible to save jobs that may otherwise be lost from layoffs. The CSU’s guiding principles in managing through this budget crisis are to serve as many students as possible without sacrificing quality, and to preserve as many jobs as possible for our employees.
