Approval of Minutes
The minutes of March 17, 1999, were approved.
Chair Otomo-Corgel requested Ms. Karen L. Yelverton, senior director, governmental affairs, to present the item.

Ms. Yelverton referred to the legislative status report provided in the agenda item which reflects the current status of trustee sponsored legislation. Of note were three updates:

AB 902 (Torlakson) is the capital outlay bill that provides additional improvement for streamlining the capital outlay process. The bill was approved and will move on to the Assembly floor and then to the second house.

AB 968 (Ducheny), which would provide funding for CSU applied biotechnology research, was approved by the Assembly Higher Education Committee, and placed on consent.

AB 1323 (Cardoza) would have set a minimum contribution relating to the implementation of an optional retirement program for newly hired faculty. Ms. Yelverton reported the bill has been withdrawn for the current year, based on the advice of the committee chairman and with a recommendation for CSU to work closely with PERS to sort out some of the specific implementation details so that the system may revisit this issue next year.

Trustee Pierce asked if Ms. Yelverton felt that the bill would in fact be revisited next year or whether its withdrawal could be perceived as an attempt to defer the entire issue. Ms. Yelverton replied that from CSU’s perspective, this is a sponsored agenda item for the board. She noted that the objections were primarily from faculty representatives and other CSU constituents who were unclear about the need for such a proposal, and that it was also a judgment call, given the other important matters under consideration, to defer until next year.

Trustee Pierce commented that it seems that the portability of our pension is one of the constraints impacting our ability to recruit faculty. He stressed that if we wish to recruit the best and the brightest faculty for the CSU of the future, this is a critical area to be addressed by the CSU.

Chair Otomo-Corgel asked how passage of legislation in the special legislative session on education would impact CSU.

Ms. Yelverton outlined the areas of particular impact to CSU. She noted four bills that were enacted dealing with K-12 school reform, two of which have the most direct impact on the CSU:

AB 2X (Mazzoni) implements several new initiatives in the area of teacher education and includes CSU as a full partner in developing the new partnership programs that were proposed with the University of California. The bill involves continued expansion for quality and quantity of teachers for K-12 schools and, due to its urgency status, will be implemented immediately.

SB 2X (O’Connell) contains the high school exit exam. This bill has a direct impact on CSU in that it strives to ensure that students are prepared for collegiate work. Ms. Yelverton stated that once the exit exam is in place and has proven it meets the standards of what we expect of our students, it is possible that CSU could then move away from the current ELM and EPT exams. The CSU has indicated a willingness to assist in the long-term process for development of the exam.
Turning to the priority bill status report, Ms. Yelverton commented on two bills:

AB 360 (Davis), which was amended to encompass our early testing proposal which would allow us to expand two current voluntary diagnostic exams (in math and English) and make them available to students, parents, and teachers as early as the ninth grade for students. This process could serve to assist students in preparing for the new high school exit exam and give them the opportunity to focus on areas where improvement may be needed.

AB 213 (Romero), which is a collaborative effort with the California State Student Association to assist in the preparation and training of future student trustees. Modeled on the UC policy, the proposal provides for two trustee representatives, with staggered terms, who will have one vote. The first year of the term provides the opportunity for the student to serve on the board as an active participant; asking questions and participating in the dialog. The second year of their term, they then become the voting member. Ms. Yelverton concluded by saying that CSU is proud to support this bill and that we are working with Assembly Member Gloria Romero to ensure its success.

Adjournment
The meeting adjourned at 8:27 a.m.
