CRYSTAL BALLROOM SECTION II

California Breast Cancer Research Program

Presented by:
Marj Plumb, Collaborative Research Consultant, California Breast Cancer Research Program

California Campus Compact's 2010 Richard E. Cone Award Recipient

Presented by:
Elaine Ikeda, Executive Director, California Campus Compact

California Campus Compact is pleased to recognize Dr. Gerald Eisman and highlight his exemplary body of work in the field of service-learning and civic engagement by presenting him with the 2010 Richard E. Cone Award for Excellence & Leadership in Cultivating Community Partnerships in Higher Education. The Richard E. Cone Award is an honor that California Campus Compact bestows annually upon an individual who has made significant contributions to the development of partnerships between California institutions of higher education and communities – partnerships through which student learning and the quality of life in communities are simultaneously improved. Dr. Eisman currently is the Director of the Institute for Civic and Community Engagement at San Francisco State University. From 2004 to 2006, he was the Service-Learning Faculty Scholar in the California State University, Office of the Chancellor, where he created the Community-Based Research Conference. Dr. Eisman has also created and edited Service-Learning for Civic Engagement, a cutting-edge monograph series that explores how service-learning can address issues of social justice, wellness and political engagement in underserved communities.

1:15 pm – 2:45 pm

Interactive, Hands-On Workshops

WORKSHOP A: CRYSTAL BALLROOM, SECTION II

Be The Change! How Campus & Community Build Partnerships to Improve Lives

- Vanessa Arnaud, CSU Sacramento
- Leslie Just, CSU Sacramento
- Jesus Lopez, CSU Sacramento
- Jana Noel, CSU Sacramento
- Amber K. Stott, Women's Empowerment

This workshop, presented by a community partner, faculty, and students, will engage participants in a dialogue about the challenges and opportunities of building mutually beneficial community-campus partnerships. We provide a framework for planning and action based on our work together (CSUS Honors Program and Women's Empowerment). The workshop will also offer hands-on activities that will enable participants to develop strategies and research tools for use in their own CBR projects. Audience: All skill and experience levels

WORKSHOP B: CRYSTAL BALLROOM, SECTION I

The Community Development and Leadership Initiative: Reminding Us What We Say We Mean To Be

- Ken Kyle, CSU East Bay
- Robert Brem, College of Alameda
- Megan Montague-Sweeney, College of Alameda

This workshop is intended to introduce the Community Development & Leadership (CDL) initiative and to share insights, problems and recommendations arising from an ongoing implementation study of CDL by faculty and graduate students from CSU East Bay's Department of Public Affairs and Administration. Workshop attendees will engage in a hands-on team exercise designed to simulate our participant-observer approach, and to focus attention on the strengths, limitations and applicability of our methods for others. Audience: All skill and experience levels

WORKSHOP C: WHITECOTTON ROOM, 6TH FLOOR

What Funders Expect

- Marj Plumb, California Breast Cancer Research Program

Participants will learn about available funding for community-researcher collaborations and how to prepare a successful application, including how to show full collaboration between the partners at all stages of the research project. Participants will engage in dialogue about the six components of collaborative agreements, identifying the range of collaboration for each component and how to describe the agreement decisions in an application for funding. Audience: All skill and experience levels

WORKSHOP D: BOILER ROOM, SECTION C

When Science Intersects the Community – How to Maintain Scientific Objectivity, Meet Community Needs, and Work Towards Meaningful Change

- Pete Palmer, San Francisco State University
- Margaret Handley, UC San Francisco
- Raymond Tompkins, founding member of Bayview Hunters Point Coalition on the Environment, and former member of Hunters Point Shipyard Restoration Advisory Board
- Lisa White, San Francisco State University

This workshop will involve participants in an open dialogue on the apparent under-representation of science-based service-learning projects in CBR. Activities will focus on delineating systematic obstacles, possible solutions, and how to promote more effective collaborations. Participants will leave with a more realistic understanding of the role of faculty on environmental and other science-related issues of direct concern to the community, and substantive ideas on how to promote more science faculty involvement in CBR. Audience: All skill and experience levels
