Effective January 9, 2002, California State University, San Bernardino is authorized to establish a Category III Defense Class Fee and Category III Miscellaneous Course Fees for Anthropology 320 and all Geology courses with a laboratory. The defense class fee will cover the costs of Rape Aggression Defense (R.A.D.) training for women. The Anthropology 320 miscellaneous course fee will include coverage of associated supply, material, equipment, and transportation costs. Revenue collected from the Defense Class Fee and miscellaneous course fees are to be deposited either in the General Fund or in a local trust account, depending on the nature of the fee. Pursuant to Education Code Section 89721(g), revenue collected may be deposited in a local trust account where the fee is required of those persons who, at their option, use the services or are provided the materials, for which the fee is collected. In other words, if the student has the option to procure the service or materials for which the fee is charged on the open market or some other way separate from the university and still fulfill the requirements of the university, the revenue may be deposited in trust. Fees so deposited shall be used solely to meet the costs of providing these materials. Otherwise, pursuant to Section 89724(a) of the Education Code, revenue collected from the Defense Class Fee and miscellaneous course fees shall be deposited in the State Treasury and credited to the General Fund for the support of the university in addition to such other amounts as may be appropriated therefor by the Legislature.
