

Teaching in Freiburg (TIF) Program

TIF provides an excellent opportunity for students considering teaching who would like to add an international component to their degree. By taking classes at the University of Education in Freiburg learning about education in Germany, and observing students and teachers in schools at various levels, students gain valuable experience with children in school settings while enhancing their understanding of German language and culture. The objective of this track is to provide an opportunity for students to improve their facility in the German language, enroll directly in a German university, and develop an understanding of education in Germany.

Introduction to German Education (3): The course presents the German educational system from pre-school to continuing education for seniors. The focus is two-fold: university education, and primary and secondary schools where students will observe and participate. Federal systems will be compared and contrasted, reform needs and possibilities will be analyzed.

Observation and Participation Seminar (4): During the semester, each participant will be an observer in a classroom (primary or secondary). Participants will engage in an associated seminar where participants will link theory and practice in the school setting, and engage in a series of assignments designed to provide a framework for gaining a more complete understanding of the German School system.
