Overview

The CSU Dependent Care Reimbursement Account (DCRA), a voluntary benefit for eligible employees, offers you the ability to pay for eligible out-of-pocket dependent care expenses with pre-tax dollars. If you enroll in the plan, the contributions you make to your account are deducted from your pay before federal, state and Social Security taxes are calculated. Your taxable income is reduced, and consequently, your taxable income reflected on your annual W-2 statement is reduced. Expenses eligible to be reimbursed from the Dependent Care Reimbursement Account include certain expenses for dependent care if the care is required in order for you (and your spouse, if you are married) to work. The “Eligible Expenses” section of this brochure provides more information on reimbursable expenses.

If you wish to participate in this plan, you must enroll each year you want to participate.

Eligible Employees

You are eligible to enroll in the Dependent Care Reimbursement Account if you are in an Executive, Management Personnel Plan (MPP), Confidential or other nonrepresented position, or are covered by a collective bargaining agreement that provides the benefit.

Enrollment and Effective Date of Coverage

The annual open enrollment period is normally September - October. The effective date of the plan coverage will be Jan 1. - Dec. 31 of the following year.

New employees may enroll in the plan within 60 days of becoming eligible or during open enrollment. Coverage will become effective on the 1st of the month following enrollment, subject to campus and State Controller’s Office processing timelines.

Once coverage begins, you will not be able to change your contribution amount until the next open enrollment period, unless you have had a change in status. See explanation under the “Change of Status” section of this brochure.

Employees who do not enroll during the open enrollment period, will be eligible to enroll during any subsequent annual open enrollment period, or due to a change in status, as stated above.

You must re-enroll in the Dependent Care Reimbursement Account plan during every annual open enrollment period to participate during the following calendar year.

How to Enroll

You will need to obtain a Dependent Care Reimbursement Account Enrollment Authorization Form from your campus Benefits Representative. On the form, list the amount you want deducted each month from your paycheck on a pre-tax basis. You will be charged a small administrative fee that is deducted from your salary on an after-tax basis.

If you are a new employee, you may enroll within 60 days of your hire date to participate for the remainder of the calendar year.
Your Dependent Care Reimbursement Account (DCRA)

The CSU Dependent Care Reimbursement Account provides reimbursement for eligible dependent care expenses from your pretax income, via a special tax-free account set up for this purpose.

Each month, the dollar amount you preselect is deducted from your salary before federal, state and Social Security taxes are withheld. These deductions are held in your personal Dependent Care Reimbursement Account until you incur eligible expenses and file a claim for reimbursement. Even when paid out as reimbursements, the funds remain tax-free. Tax-free Dependent Care Reimbursement Accounts are governed by a number of rules, most of which are set by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and can be changed only by that agency.

Eligible Expenses

Dependent care expenses will be eligible for reimbursement through your DCRA provided the care is required in order for you to be gainfully employed. If you are married, your spouse also must be employed or actively looking for work, unless he/she is disabled or a full-time student. In addition, the Internal Revenue Code stipulates the following:

If you were divorced, legally separated, or lived apart from your spouse for all of the last six months of the preceding tax year, you may pay for dependent care for an eligible dependent child through your DCRA if:

1. You have custody of the child for the longer period of the year; and
2. You pay more than half the cost of maintaining the household; and
3. You are entitled to claim the child as a dependent on your income tax form or have legally waived your right to do so.

You are not required to use a day care center; care also may be provided in your home or someone else’s home. However, if care is received through a day care center, the day care center must provide care for six or more individuals who do not live there and must comply with all state and local licensing laws and regulations. Expenses for household services may be eligible if the services are partly for the care of the qualifying dependent.

Your provider must supply you with a Social Security number or a Taxpayer’s Identification Number (TIN). You will need this information when you file your income tax return for the year, even though you are not claiming a tax credit for your expenses.

Expenses for care provided by your spouse, by someone you are entitled to claim as a dependent for income tax purposes, or by your child under the age of 19 at the end of the tax year, are not eligible for reimbursement through your DCRA.

Expenses must be incurred within the plan year and while you are covered under the DCRA. Expenses are considered “incurred” when the services are provided, not when the bill is paid or received.

Ineligible Expenses

Some expenses that are not eligible for reimbursement under the DCRA plan include:

• expenses for sleepover camp;
• nursing home expenses;
• educational expenses;
• separately billed charges for activities, transportation, food, clothing, etc;
• any other expenses that are not eligible for deduction on your federal income tax return.

Eligible Dependents

Eligible dependents for whom DCRA reimbursements can be claimed are:

1. A child under age 13, for whom you or your spouse are entitled to claim dependent status on your income tax return. (See the first item under “Eligible Expenses” above, for the rule on dependency in cases of separation and divorce.)¹
2. A spouse who is physically or mentally unable to care for him/herself, or

¹ You may claim reimbursement for expenses paid for your domestic partner if your domestic partner is a dependent.
3. A financially dependent member of your household, who regularly spends at least eight hours each day in your home.

Amount You Can Contribute

You can contribute any amount from a minimum of $20 per month to a maximum of $416.66 a month ($5,000 a year). However, if you are married but file a separate tax return, your annual maximum is $2,500.

The IRS requires certain other limits in special situations.

If you or your spouse earned income of less than $5,000 a year, your maximum contribution is equal to that person’s earned income.

If your spouse is a full-time student for at least five months of the year, or is incapable of self-care, and you have one dependent, your spouse is deemed to have income of $200 (increases to $250 for the 2003 plan year) for each calendar month that your spouse is disabled or a full-time student. If you have two or more dependents, your spouse is deemed to have income of $400 (increases to $416.66 for the 2003 plan year) for each such calendar month.

Note:
These limits may be lower for employees who are classified as “highly compensated employees.” If you should fit the qualification, you will be notified of the limit on your DCRA contributions. All contributions made to your DCRA by payroll deduction are exempt from federal, state and Social Security taxes. They will, however, be taken into account for your CalPERS deductions. DCRA contributions will have no impact on any other employer-provided benefits that may be based on your salary. There may be some impact on your Social Security benefits as discussed in the section titled “Effect on Social Security.”

Change In Status

Once the plan year has begun, you cannot make changes in your authorization unless there has been a change in your status, as defined by the IRS.

Please note that your election must be on account of and consistent with one of the following events:

- Change in Marital Status - Marriage, divorce, death of spouse, legal separation or annulment;
- Change in Number of Dependents - The birth, death, adoption or placement for adoption of a child;
- Termination/Commencement of Employment - The beginning or the end of employment of the employee, spouse or dependent;
- Change in Work Hours - Change in work schedule including a reduction or increase in hours, full-time/part-time switch, start/stop of unpaid leave of absence or a strike or lockout of employee, spouse or dependent;
- Change in Residence or Worksite - Change in residence or worksite of employee, spouse or dependent;
- Dependent begins or ceases to meet eligibility - Your dependent satisfies (or ceases to satisfy) dependent eligibility requirements for DCA;
- Significant increase or decrease in cost of your dependent care provider (as long as provider is not a relative);
- Change in dependent care provider;
- Judgement, decree, court order, or Qualified Medical Child Support Order (QMCSO).

If you have a change in status, you may increase (up to the appropriate IRS limit), decrease, start, or stop your contributions by filing a new Authorization Form within 60 days of the status change. Any change you make must be on account of and consistent with the change in status.

If you stop your contributions, you may continue to submit any eligible expenses incurred before you stopped participating for the remainder of the plan year or until your account is exhausted, whichever comes first. (The same rule applies if you should terminate your CSU employment for any reason.)

How to Plan Your Contributions

If you are already paying dependent care expenses, you probably know your annual expenditures. By looking at your records for the past year, and inquiring about any increase in fees planned by your provider, you can estimate your contributions.
If dependent care expenses will be a new item in your budget, because you are expecting a baby or planning to take charge of a disabled relative, you will need to investigate available resources and their costs.

You must estimate your eligible expenses very carefully. As noted earlier, your authorization is irrevocable during the plan year unless you have a change in status event. In addition, any money left in your DCRA after your expenses have been paid for the year will be forfeited. The IRS will not permit excess contributions to be refunded or carried over into the next plan year.

Comparing DCRA Contributions with the Tax Credit

Dependent care expenses may qualify for a tax credit on your income tax return. The credit you can claim is based on your adjusted household gross income and the number of eligible dependents you have. You should consider which method will offer you the greatest tax savings.

There is no established rule about who may benefit from one method or another; your own situation can be determined only by a close look at your records. Personal tax situations vary. You should carefully consider the impact a DCRA will have on your tax status. You may want to consult your financial planner or tax advisor.

Effective January 1, 2003 (the 2003 tax year), the tax credit will increase from $2,400 to $3,000 for one dependent and from $4,800 to $6,000 for two or more dependents. The amount of expenses eligible for the dependent care tax credit will be reduced, dollar for dollar, by the amount of expenses reimbursed through a DCRA. For example, if in the 2003 tax year you have one dependent for whom you pay $4,000 in dependent care expenses during the year, and decide to pay $3,000 through your DCRA, you will lose all tax credit eligibility and the additional $1,000 in expenses cannot be claimed as a tax credit, even though the expenses were different from those claimed under the DCRA.

Effect on Social Security

Depending upon your salary, your Social Security deductions may also be reduced by your contributions to a DCRA. This means your Social Security benefits at retirement may also be reduced slightly, because you have paid Social Security taxes on a lower wage. You also should take this into consideration as you make your decision about enrolling. For more information, you may also want to consult your tax advisor or financial planner.

IRS Dependent Care Reporting Requirements

The Internal Revenue Service requires taxpayers who claim either a dependent care credit or a DCRA exclusion to report certain information with their income tax returns on form 2441 (1040 filers) or Schedule 2 (1040A filers). The information required includes the name, address, and Taxpayer’s Identification Number (TIN) of the care provider. For individuals, their Social Security numbers are their TINs. For others, the employer identification number is generally the correct TIN. However, the TIN is not required for dependent care provided by a tax-exempt organization. If the required information is not supplied, the taxpayer will lose the credit or exclusion, unless he or she can show that due diligence was exercised in attempting to furnish it.

Any one of the following documents may be used to show due diligence:

1. A completed Form W-1O, Dependent Care Provider’s Identification and Certification. This is an IRS form that individuals should give to each of their care providers to complete and return;
2. A copy of the care provider’s Social Security card or driver’s license;
3. A recently printed letterhead or printed invoice from the provider; or
4. A copy of the completed Form W-4, Employee’s Withholding Allowance Certificate, if the provider is the taxpayer’s household employee.
How To Claim Reimbursement

CSU Dependent Care/Health Care Reimbursement Account claim forms are available from your Benefits Representative. Beginning with the 2003 plan year, claim forms will be available for download from the Claim Administrator’s website at: www.asiflex.com.

You can file a claim for reimbursement by completing the form and attaching an itemized bill for your dependent care expenses. If you wish to keep your originals, you may submit photocopies of your bills, but the information on the claim form itself must be original, not photocopied.

Each claim must include the name of the employee, the name of the dependent receiving care, the name and address of the person or facility providing care, dates of care, amounts charged, and the tax identification number of the care provider. (See the previous section, “IRS Dependent Care Reporting Requirements,” for an explanation of provider tax identification numbers.) Claims cannot be paid without such verification of expenses, and copies of canceled checks are not sufficient documentation.

If the bill you are submitting is more than the amount currently in your DCRA, fill in the total amount of the bill as the reimbursement amount you are requesting. Although your actual reimbursement cannot exceed the amount currently in your account, excess expenses will be pended and paid to you automatically, as soon as additional money is available in your DCRA account (within the same plan year).

You will need to send completed claim forms to the Claim Administrator’s address, as specified on the claim form. Effective 2003, reimbursements will be paid twice per month. If your claim is received by the 5th of the month, reimbursement will be mailed, or sent to your account electronically (if you elect this option) by the 15th of the month. Claims received by the 20th will be reimbursed in like manner (as stated above) by the end of the same month. There is no minimum reimbursement amount.

You may file claims for expenses incurred during a plan year any time up to six months after the end of the plan year (June 30 of the next year.) Any balance remaining in your Dependent Care Reimbursement Account after that date will be forfeited.

Claims Denial and Appeal

You will receive written notice of any denied claims. You will have 180 days from the date of the written notice to file an appeal of that specific claim denial with the claims office. The claims office will provide you with a written notice of the resolution of the appeal within 60 days of the appeal.

Termination of Your Participation/Plan

Your participation in the Dependent Care Reimbursement Account will end as of the later of the following:

⇒ At the end of the month in which you last contributed (for claim filing purposes, eligible expenses only will be reimbursed for services provided through the end of this period.).
⇒ The end of the current plan year if you fail to reenroll during the annual open enrollment period.
⇒ The date you have been reimbursed for the entire elected annual contribution amount, and have zero funds left in your account, following cancellation or failure to reenroll.
⇒ Upon termination of your employment.
⇒ The date of your death.
⇒ Upon termination of this plan.

This plan may be terminated by the CSU only as of the end of any plan year. Any amounts credited to your account as of the end of the plan year, and unclaimed through the reimbursement process by the following June 30, will be forfeited.

Final Note

Through the Dependent Care Reimbursement Account, it is possible to pay for dependent care expenses on a tax-advantaged basis easily and automatically. Carefully consider your decision to participate. If you are eligible, you’ll find it a worthwhile addition to your CSU benefits package.
