CSU AND CALIFORNIA FACULTY ASSOCIATION (CFA) REACH AGREEMENT TO EXTEND CURRENT BARGAINING AGREEMENT

The California State University (CSU) is pleased to announce that the California Faculty Association (CFA) and the CSU have agreed to a short-term extension of the Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA) through August 31, 2021. This extension allows all terms and conditions of employment under the CBA to remain in effect while the parties continue to negotiate a new contract.

Bargaining over a successor CBA began in October 2020. During the past eight months, proposals and counter proposals have been exchanged. The CSU remains committed to continuing good faith negotiations through the collective bargaining process, pursuant to the Higher Education Employer-Employee Relations Act.

It is important to underscore that the CSU values faculty and the work they do to support positive student outcomes. The parties have agreed to conduct bargaining sessions on July 27 and July 30 to continue negotiations.

We are hopeful that the upcoming scheduled negotiating sessions will move the parties closer to the successor Collective Bargaining Agreement.
