

California State University's Hispanic-Serving Institutions

Hispanic-Serving Institutions (HSI) are defined under the Higher Education Act (HEA) as colleges or universities where at least 25 percent of the undergraduate, full-time enrollment is Hispanic; and at least half of the institution's degree-seeking students must be low-income. Twenty of the California State University's 23 campuses meet these criteria, allowing them to compete for federal funding to expand and enhance educational opportunities for their students, including those of Hispanic descent.

The California State University is the largest system of senior higher education in the country, with 23 campuses, 474,600 undergraduate and graduate students, and 49,000 faculty and staff. To learn more about the CSU and our partnerships in the Hispanic community visit us at www.calstate.edu/externalrelations.