Timothy P. White Chancellor, California State University

INTRODUCTION

The California State University promotes student success through opportunity and a high-quality education that prepares students to become leaders in the changing workforce, making the CSU a vital economic engine for California.

NATION'S LARGEST

our-year public university 23 CAMPUSES and eight off-campus centers 482,000 STUDENTS

23 CAMPUSES. ONE UNIVERSITY.

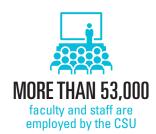

OPPORTUNITY

The CSU creates opportunity for the diverse students of California to reach their educational goals and become leading citizens. Nearly one-third of CSU students are the first in their families to attend college.

PREPARATION

The CSU plays a critical role in providing future leaders with the skills and knowledge they'll need to thrive in the workforce and help drive California's economy. The CSU produces nearly half the state's bachelor's degrees, sending more than 127,000 jobready graduates into the workforce each year.

QUALITY

The CSU prepares students for success through leadingedge programs, superior teaching and scholarly activity. High-quality academic programs reflect California's current and future workforce demands in emerging fields such as cybersecurity, software engineering, sustainable business and environmental technology.

LEADERSHIP

Through the caliber of its academic programs and a university-wide commitment to student achievement, the CSU is dedicated to fostering leaders. Across the campuses and in communities throughout the state, the CSU's faculty, staff, students and alumni are addressing critical issues facing our state and nation.

INCLUSIVE EXCELLENCE

The CSU strives to create a welcoming environment for all members of its campus communities. This commitment to inclusive excellence is manifested in students who make up the most ethnically, economically and academically diverse student body in the nation, attaining higher levels of success than ever as graduation rates continue to reach all-time highs. The CSU is an engine for social mobility as those students receive high-quality educations that propel them into higher economic strata. The CSU provides more than half of all undergraduate degrees earned by California's Latinx, African American and Native American students combined. Twenty-one of 23 CSUs are currently recognized by the Department of Education as Hispanic-Serving Institutions (HSIs), colleges and universities with a Latinx student enrollment of at least 25 percent.

MASTER PLAN FOR HIGHER EDUCATION

The CSU was created in 1960 under the California Master Plan for Higher Education. The CSU draws its students from the top third of the state's high school graduates and is California's primary undergraduate teaching institution. Continuing to expand its educational scope and help meet California's workforce demands for skilled professionals, the CSU offers independent doctorates in audiology, education, nursing practice and physical therapy at numerous campuses. Additionally, the CSU was recently authorized to offer the independent Doctor of Occupational Therapy. The Doctor of Philosophy is also offered through a joint partnership with other public and private universities in California.

GRADUATION INITIATIVE 2025

Graduation Initiative 2025 aims to increase graduation rates for all CSU students while eliminating opportunity and achievement gaps. Through this initiative the CSU will ensure that all students have the opportunity to graduate in a timely manner according to their personal goals, positively impacting their future and producing the graduates needed to power California and the nation.

Since its launch in 2015, the initiative has already seen success in bringing completion rates to all-time highs in all categories and narrowing equity gaps between underserved students and their peers.

In 2018-19, the CSU graduated 1,888 more students than the previous year.

Students planning to enter the CSU can apply through the online application tool, Cal State Apply, at calstate.edu/apply.

Due to the large number of applicants, some CSU campuses have higher standards (supplementary admission criteria) for particular majors or for students who live outside the local campus area. Campuses utilize local admission guarantee policies for students who graduate or transfer from high schools and community colleges that are historically served by a CSU campus in that region.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

First-time freshmen applicants must meet the standards in each of the following areas:

- Complete specific high school coursework.
- Achieve suitable grades in specified courses and on tests.
- · Graduate from high school.

Transfer and Graduate Students The majority of transfer students enter as upper-division transfers and must complete at least 60 semester or 90 quarter units before transferring. Students who have earned an Associate Degree for Transfer (ADT) will be admitted to the CSU with junior status. To apply for admission to graduate or postbaccalaureate studies, a student must: Earn a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution with at least a 2.5 grade point average. CSU FUNDING

The CSU's operating budget has two main funding sources: the state General Fund and student tuition fees. State funding now covers slightly more than half of the CSU's operating costs, with tuition fees making up for the remainder. Auxiliaries and philanthropic support generate additional revenue needed for essential services that supplement state-supported activities.

CSU LEADERSHIP

Responsibility for the CSU is vested in a 25-member Board of Trustees, the majority of whom are appointed by the governor to eight-year terms. Faculty, alumni and two student trustees serve two-year terms. The trustees appoint the chancellor, who is the university's chief executive officer, and the presidents, who are the chief executive officers of their respective campuses and report to the chancellor.
